HORECA EDIT

2023

INTRODUCTION

Since our founding in 1966, we design for people, with the aim of understanding the purpose and the environment in which objects are used. They are pieces that have been designed to be touched and held, fitting harmoniously into the varied spaces we inhabit and share.

We have given careful consideration to how our products serve a greater purpose than functionality. They are objects that add personality to shared spaces, they lend beauty through their form, and help to create atmospheres that make their users feel comfortable, relaxed and welcomed.

Our HORECA Collection responds to discerning professionals in all sectors of the industry. Shapes, hand finishes and styles create unrivalled choice to complement distinctly individual interiors, whilst offering longevity, continuity and a high standard. Each is made using high quality materials to meet the varied practical demands of this evolving environment.

LOBBY

Planters, statement vases and lanterns act as considered standalone objects in shared spaces. Designed to welcome one in, to elevate and activate the space they sit in, and introduce accents of nature through biophilic design. Each engages with the varied activities of a lobby environment.

WORK WITH US

Our ambition at LSA is to use skilled craft to create thoughtful, considered designs with intrinsic value. Anticipating new directions in design, food and drinks, original yet practical collections respond to the way people live, socialise and connect. They are objects designed to enhance everyday life. We have received multiple international design awards from iF, Red Dot and The Good Design Award, all of which demonstrate our commitment to good, original design.

We are conscious of our responsibility to reduce our impact on the environment, and work ethically and transparently with our team and partners to explore sustainable practices. Our primary material, glass, is infinitely recyclable. All of our product boxes are recyclable, made from recycled card and printed with non-toxic or organic vegetable based inks. Our experience with glass as a material enables us to experiment and push the boundaries of hand production, using the craftsmanship and skill of European producers to create collections of high quality.

All of our suggested collections are suited to the evolving demands of the hospitality market with swift order fulfilment capabilities. Exacting quality control ensures our products are always delivered to exceptional standards, and warehouses and showrooms across the globe offer support, reliability and accuracy. The complete collection is supported by outstanding replenishment rates and efficient distribution.
